Best Practice 1: Empowering Women through Education

In league with the United Nations' Millennium Development Goal of empowering women dispelling gender disparity the college concentrates on the recognition of the need for fundamental restructuring of the society and institutions in order to equip women to assert their equitable place in all aspects of life with strong reaffirmation that women rights are essentially human rights that demand universal concern and participation. Empowering women for securing equal access to resources such as education, employment opportunities beyond unpaid reproductive work, political participation, health facilities, shelter and nutrition, land and entrepreneurship and the rest is the need of the day. An equal access to resources would be materialized through de-marginalizing and de-hegemonizing women, providing them safe transportation and secured existence inside and outside home. Women's odyssey to assert their rights to define and determine development policies and reclaim their control over resources is to be steered with a new momentum that may cope with the speed of the world today. The need of the hour is to encode the glass ceiling that still exists and smash it urgently.

Hence, the academic and extension activities are planned keeping in view the global mission of gender equality with focus on the codification of women's legal, civil and other rights as human beings. Extension lectures are organised by the Women Cell of the college every year on issues related to women like their legal rights and their place in the society, today. Legal Expert Mrs. Harinder Kaur, Academician, Dr. Purnima Anil and Social Worker and State Minister Mrs. Sadhna Mishra have been invited guests to give voice to the women issues in the college and strengthen students to face the challenges. The political Science Dept. organises events related to human rights on the Human Rights Day. On this occasion the rights of women as a human being are frequently discussed. Dr. Vandana Sharma, Dr. Mithlesh Mishra, Dr. Pradeep Kumar of JAGAR NGO have been often invited to discuss with students the subjects of women rights. Miss Nitika Pant of SAKAR NGO made the students participate in the debate on women issues through innovative methods like story-telling and article analysis during the NSS Camps and Human Rights Day. Mrs. Mandeep Kaur, Programme Executive of AIR, Bareilly, Mrs. Beena Mathur and Mrs. Richa Tandon- the entrepreneurs and skilful managers, Miss Priya Dutta and Nitika Pant- working for social awareness, Mrs. Vibha Pande, Drama artist of AIR, Rampur, Dr. Malini Kulshreshtha and Dr. Rashmi Sharma- well- known medical practitioners of Bareilly have been invited during NSS camps to motivate and guide the students on various issues. Extension lectures are also organised on the issues of women health and cleanliness. In 2014-15 Dr. Neelu Purwar of the district hospital lectured on the subject. Thus attempts are being made continuously to shell off the stereotyped attitudes towards women with a strong commitment to empower women to change the world- a mission if not attained would leave all other U N goals- peace, security, sustainable development- stand in jeopardy.

Best Practice 2: Strengthening Social Environment & Ecology

Fruitful and Sustainable development is genuinely crucial for the evolution of social environmental and ecology in the concurrent situation. As impacts of ecological degradation as well as those of social disintegration extend beyond time and space, a holistic approach to social and physical environment is urgently required. A dynamic, self- evolving and auto-sustainable ecosystem is reprehensibly perturbed by external stimuli such as natural cataclysmic changes and ever-increasing human activities dictated by socio-economic growth. The developmental activities of man have invited unprecedented climatic hazards. Over the years the environmentalists and activists have been warning man about the escalating disaster. The magnificent edifice of economic growth cannot be founded upon the ecological imbalance and deterioration. The development should be accorded to environment. On the other hand, the glamorous tales of success and glory can not be inscribed on the social mansions of weak foundation. Girls are the most important instrument for evolving a strong, value based and sustainable social environment.

The college recognizes the dire need for constructive and revolutionary action to mitigate the peril of the escalating devastation looming large on mankind because of indifference to social and environmental values and espouses its commitment to evolve an economically, socially and environmentally sustainable future for the generations of man through value- based education to the girls, studying, here. The eco-Restoration Club and volunteers of NSS and Rangers units of the college constantly work as sentinels of eco friendly and clean environment in the campus. They help in maintaining greenery and cleanliness; alert the students against the perils of polythene and voice the college's commitment to social values. To inculcate concern for environment among the students the Botanical Garden is also maintained in the college. Students' visits to IVRI and CSIR as well as extension lectures by the experts of the field also serve the purpose. Mr. Dharam Singh, D.F.O., Bareilly has been often invited to beware students against the perils of environmental degradation and also to motivate them for plantation and wild life preservation. A two days National Seminar was organized by the college on the topic Challenges and Road Ahead: A Macrocosmic Analysis of Sustainable Development to infuse the spirit of environmental values. The teachers of the college always emphasize on social and environmental values. They are constantly motivated to respect their elders, establish balance in family and social responsibilities. The resource persons like Mr. Shantanu Rohatgi, senior member of civil defence in Bareilly, Mr. Sanjeev Chaudhari from Heartful Organization, Miss Nitika Pant and Miss Priya Dutt have been often invited to remind the students of their social and environmental duties. The college does its best to sensitize students for strengthening social environment and ecology.

AS PER SWOC ANALYSIS OF THE COLLEGE _____

SWOC Analysis of the College

Strengths:

- The college is situated at the heart of the city and is easily assessable in terms of public transport.
- Several universities and Research Institutes like MJPRU, Bareilly, Invertis, SRMS, Khandelwal Group of Institutions, IVRI, IFFCO are situated around the college which provides exposure to the students
- The industries like WIMCO, SIDKUL and the industrial area of Parsakhera are situated around the college to provide job opportunities in the different sectors
- The institutes of professional skills like fashion designing, dress designing, travel and tourism, nursing etc, are also there around the college to boost up the students
- Attempts are made to increase the student strength at every level by increasing the course option through distance education programmes
- Attempts are made to increase and strengthen the college infrastructure, modernize the classrooms with ICT/OHP and labs with latest gadgets, promote computation, library automation etc.
- The college attracts and supports the students specially from the weaker sections of society
- Dedicated and competent faculty and staff
- Computerized office, transparent examination system, updated website, CCTV cameras for girls security are the strengths of the college.

Weaknesses:

- The college has inadequate basic infrastructure like auditorium, library building, separate P.G. Blocks, Separate research section, guest house, residential block for faculty and staff etc. (proposal for all these has been sent under the RUSA programme)
- There are single man departments. Hence teacher - student ratio is not favourable for qualitative education
- There is inadequate technical and office staff

Opportunities:

- The college is situated in the prime location of Bareilly and is accessible by road and rail.
- Being a govt. Institution, it offers quality education. Besides, financial support through scholarship makes education highly affordable to even the weaker sections of the society

- Being a pioneer institution for women education it attracts girl students
- It adds job oriented courses specially designed for women such as dietics, nutrition. home management and BLIS.
- The college equips the students with scientific temper, communication skills and research aptitude

Challenges:

- To enhance the infrastructure in the college to increase the intake of students
- To introduce new and additional job- oriented inter-disciplinary courses
- Admission through competitive/ entrance test
- To improve teacher- student ratio
- To improve library facilities
- To create a cell for interaction with government and non- government organizations, industries for employability of students
